

Woodhouse Half term Baking Challenge

First watch the video of Miss Mason reading 'The Toys' Party', where Kipper makes a cake using some unusual ingredients!

At the moment, there is a shortage of flour in the shops. So your half term challenge is to bake something without flour. Alternatively, you could go for a new version of chocolate cornflake buns – no baking needed!

You can use any ingredients that you like as long as you ask your grown up for permission and get them to help you use the oven.

Make sure you take photos along the way and write the recipe down – we have uploaded some recipe templates that you can use.

Share your baking experiences with us on the Woodhouse Teacher blog. You could share photos, videos or just your recipe. Let us know if it tastes nice or not too!
